News from Mr. Parkhurst

It is hard to imagine that December is already here. I trust that this season will bring you many joys. As the month progresses, the excitement of the season builds. We have a lot of work to do between now and the holiday break at JHS and need your help. Please be sure to send your child to school ready to learn each day. This includes keeping a routine as much as possible during this extremely busy season. A healthy breakfast is a great way to start the day along with a healthy snack sent to school each day.

Recess is held outdoors each and every day, weather permitting. Please be sure that your child is dressed appropriately for outdoor play. This is a great social learning experience for children so help us to ensure that your child is able to take advantage of this opportunity.

'Tis the season to give back. Come for an afternoon of cookie decorating and book reading with Amy Krouse Rosenthal, author of Christmas Cookies: Bite-Size Holiday Lessons. Rosenthal is the author of several children's books, including New York Times bestselling Cookies: Bite-Size Life Lessons. Bring your family and friends to help us give back to our community with confections that we will be decorating and then donating to the Shoreline Soup Kitchen (along with any non-perishable can items you might bring), followed by Rosenthal reading from her delightful picture book.

Thank you to everyone who contributed books for Clinton Avenue School.
We collected 17 boxes of books!!
